

Book Recommendations

Rev Nicola recommends this book:

This has been my favourite children's book since my children were little. I lost count of how many times I have read it a long time ago. Even though we aren't told that they are dad and child we assume they are. Really I think about it as a special relationship that two hares have with each other. To think that someone loves us more than we love them is amazing and helps us to remember that we are always loved.

It reminds me that Jesus loves each one of us more than we could ever love him. He loves us so much that he stretched out his arms on the cross to say 'I love you this much'.
